Website Cookies

Cookies are small text files offered to your web browser by websites that you visit. A cookie file stored by your web browser allows the user to be recognised and this is to make your next visit easier - for example by connecting you to a page you visited previously, or storing selections you've made.

We also use cookies provided by 3rd parties Google Analytics and WiX to track activity so we can understand and improve how visitors use and engage with the website. This information is anonymous and is used only to improve the website. We do not have access to your browser history.

When a user accesses this website for the first time, consent is sought to send cookies to the user's browser. You have the option to accept or decline. Cookies can be deleted at any time through your browser controls.
